

HARVARD BEATS PRINCETON, 3-0

Brickley Drop Kicks Goal From 20 Yard Line for Only Tally of Day.

GAME EVEN OTHERWISE

Annual Football Struggle Fought in Sea of Mud, With Rain Falling.

TIGERS' POWER AMAZES

Confident Crimson Eleven Shocked by Unexpected Strength of Rival.

BAKER MISSES GOAL OFTEN

So Does Vectors' Toe Man, Both Being Baffled by Heavy and Slippery Ball.

PRINCETON, Nov. 8.—In a sea of mud and with rain falling steadily a greater part of the time the Harvard varsity eleven managed to defeat the Princeton Tigers here to-day by the slim score of 3 to 0. Harvard's points were accumulated when Charlie Brickley drop kicked a comparatively easy goal from the 20 yard line in the second period. Brickley's chance to win the battle came after stadium had blocked a punt not far from Princeton's goal line, which enabled Capt. Storer to fall upon it after a desperate scramble. There was no fluke about this play, for the Crimson forwards literally tore the Princeton right wing to pieces, which deprived Law of the required protection usually afforded for a punt.

For a time the Harvard supporters, who came all the way from Cambridge expecting to see their eleven roll up a big score, were surprised by the stubborn resistance and the really splendid playing of the Tigers. During the first quarter Princeton uncovered a puzzling system of attack which clearly nettled the big kickers from Massachusetts. Harvard was kept busy trying to solve the vicious assault driven hither and yonder and it was not long before the Tigers had worked the ball to Harvard's 30 yard line.

Baker Misses Drop Kicks

Then Hobey Baker, after Harvard's rush line had braced, tried a drop kick from the 46 yard mark, but the ball did not possess sufficient momentum and dropped to earth about five yards in front of the goal posts. It was not long after that Princeton hustled the ball to Harvard's 34 yard mark, where again Harvard prevented a further advance and Baker attempted another drop kick. This time he stood on the 43 yard mark and his attempt was magnificent. The ball sailed straight for the crossbar, but suddenly it twisted away and passed one of the uprights so closely that for a moment thousands of Saxons' sons leaped cheering wildly, because they believed that a goal had been kicked. But a wave of the arm by Referee W. S. Langford of Trinity indicated that Baker had failed and Princeton's joy was smothered.

When the first period ended it was apparent that the Tigers had outplayed the Crimson eleven, a feat that made the Harvard players redouble their efforts when the second period began. Princeton again showed a powerful attack until the ball had been advanced to Harvard's 29 yard line, where the Crimson became invulnerable and the Tigers lost the oval on downs. Then came a punting match in which Harvard had somewhat the better of it, and finally an attempted return by Law was blocked, which led up to Brickley's goal from the field.

Mahan Makes 50 Yard Run

Before this period ended Eddie Mahan, who had supplanted Bradley in Harvard's backfield, aroused the great crowd with his surprising well in the sloppy going and his advance helped to bring about a favorable opportunity for another drop kick by Brickley on Princeton's 33 yard mark, which, however, was a failure. During the fifteen minutes intermission the players of both eleven were forced to remove their uniforms, which were weighed down with mud and slime, and when the teams came out for the third period they looked spic and span.

By that time the rain, which had drenched the spectators to the skin, was driven away by the blazing sun, which brought with it insufferable heat and doubtless made the task of the men on the field more wearisome than before. During this period the Tigers, fighting tooth and nail to overcome Harvard's slight advantage, hammered their way to the Crimson's 36 yard mark, where again they lost the ball on downs. Much kicking followed and Baker finally made a fair catch on Harvard's 45 yard mark, from which point he made an unsuccessful attempt to kick a goal from placement.

Princeton Looks Dangerous

In the early part of the last period it looked as if Princeton might tie the score. Harvard, from behind his own goal line, made such a poor punt that the ball rolled out of bounds at the Harvard 24 yard mark. Instantly the Princeton shorties jumped up and urged Baker to try a drop kick. But the Tigers first decided to pierce the Harvard battlements if possible. The Crimson rush line was a stout wall and not a yard was gained. Then Baker dropped back to the 35 yard line and tried a drop kick which was blocked because of the Tigers' inability to keep the Harvard forwards from breaking through.

A few minutes later Harvard made

TUMULTUOUS MAY BE CHAIRMAN

Jersey Man is Suggested to Succeed William F. McCombs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Talk has been revived in Washington regarding changes in the leadership of the Democratic National Committee, and Joseph Patrick Tumulty, secretary to the President, has been suggested as the probable successor to Chairman William F. McCombs, who, it is expected, will shortly assume the office of Ambassador to France. Thomas J. Pence, now in charge of the Democratic national headquarters here, also is being mentioned prominently.

Mr. McCombs, it is thought, will not be disturbed in his office as chairman until near the election season of 1916. Meanwhile, there is a Congress battle to be waged by the Congress campaign committee, headed by Representative Frank E. Doremus of Michigan.

Democrats are well satisfied with results of the seven by-elections last Tuesday and are not worrying about the absence from the United States of Mr. McCombs.

EARLE EXPECTS DIVORCE SUIT

Cables Lawyer to Handle Action Brought by Third Wife.

MONROE, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Edward C. Smith, a lawyer of Monroe and Newburgh, received a cablegram to-day from Ferdinand Earle in Paris reading as follows:

"Accept service and appear for me in suit brought by Dora."

Mr. Smith said to-night that he had received no further instructions and knew no more about the present marital difficulties of Mr. Earle than was suggested in the cablegram. Mr. Smith was elected surrogate of Orange county, last Tuesday.

The present Mrs. Earle, the third to bear the name, is now 25 years old. Her husband is 37. She was Helen Theodora Sidford, daughter of an English architect, and was married to Earle in June, 1911. She said afterward that she knew nothing of Earle's previous matrimonial record until after her marriage to him.

After three months on the Continent Mrs. Earle accompanied her husband to America in September, 1911, and was established by him in his home here. Two daughters have been born of the marriage, one in Monroe and one in England since the wife's return to visit her mother. Mrs. Earle on August 11 last at the home of her mother in Oxford, England, said that she was about to sue her husband for divorce in New York State on statutory grounds.

WHY SHAW WON'T LECTURE

Willing to Come to U. S. With Kaiser, but Not Otherwise.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 8.—An American theatrical manager tried recently to induce G. Bernard Shaw to lecture in the United States. He told the playwright, there were two persons whose drawing powers on the lecture platform were still unexploited—Shaw and the Kaiser. Shaw agreed and said he was quite willing to go to lecture in America, but on one condition—that the Kaiser go too and appear on the same platform.

STRIKERS KILL THREE GUARDS

Troops Also Are Attacked by Miners in Colorado.

WALDEN, CO., Nov. 8.—Three miners here were killed and one man was fatally wounded, seven miles north of Lovato, when they were ambushed this afternoon while escorting a strikebreaker in an automobile.

A strikebreaker named Gandy went to Oakview from Lovato to get a tooth treated and was held by strikers. He telephoned for assistance and when the guards responded they were fired on. A company of State troops has left Lovato for Oakview.

Troops were fired on by strikers at Forbes, near Trinidad.

The Denver and Rio Grande train service on the Trinidad line is tied up by the burning of five bridges near Rouse Junction and the United States mail service to southern Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and southern California and old Mexico is interrupted.

THE DIVINE RIGHT OF PRINCES

Hohenzollern Family Criticized for Auto Racing in Streets.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
POTSDAM, Nov. 8.—The death here to-day of a little girl after she had been run over by an automobile driven by Prince Frederick Leopold the younger, a second cousin of the Kaiser, has caused a wave of resentment against the members of the Hohenzollern family, whose members have speed has resulted in a score of accidents in recent years.

This is the fifth child who has been run over by an automobile driven by Prince Frederick Leopold or one of his brothers. The Prince is 18 years old.

Prince Eitel Frederick, son of the Kaiser, caused serious injuries to a boy in Berlin recently in a similar manner. The prince of the royal house shows utter disregard of the speed restrictions and tear through the streets at a terrific pace. The police are afraid to interfere.

READY TO BUILD BRIDGES

Twenty-second Regiment Breaks Record for Quick Trestle Work.

The military tournament at Madison Square Garden closed last night after a successful week. Major-General John F. O'Rourke, commanding the National Guard of the State, witnessed the exhibition.

A feature of the Twenty-second Regiment's Corps of Engineers, Capt. William S. Conrow, in building a trestle bridge, 135 feet long, in 5 minutes and 8 3/5 seconds, breaking the record. The fastest construction time in the regular army for this kind of a bridge was 5 minutes and 35 seconds.

PRINCIPAL AMEN STRICKEN

Head of Phillips Exeter Found Unconscious in His Home.

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 8.—Harold P. Amen, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, was stricken at his residence to-day, and his condition to-night was said to be critical. He was found lying unconscious beside a telephone this morning.

It is believed his illness is due to acute indigestion to which he has been subject. On account of Prof. Amen's illness the academy students did not hold a celebration of the football victory over Andover.

GIRLS RESCUED BY ROOSEVELTS

Colonel and Wife Save Two Shipmates Lured to Den in Rio.

RAISE PASSAGE BACK

Pass Hat in Vandeyck's First Cabin When Fate of Singers Is Suspected.

LIVELY TILT WITH POLICE

Minister Acts When Attempt to Transship Them in Harbor Is Foiled.

Miss Gladys Waddell, who is only 17 and pretty, who took a juvenile part two years ago in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" arrived yesterday by the Lamport & Holt liner Vestra, with her chum and roommate in a vaudeville singing and dancing sketch, Miss Joan Shore, aged 19, declaring that but for the interest that Col. Roosevelt and his wife had taken in them they might have been stranded in Rio Janeiro, or perhaps have become involved in even more serious trouble.

They sailed from New York on October 4 by the steamship Vandeyck under contract to appear in a place of amusement in Rio Janeiro, the booking agency at this end of the line paying their fare. The most distinguished voyager aboard the Vandeyck was Col. Roosevelt. The Colonel, Mrs. Roosevelt and practically everybody in the first cabin was attracted to the two pretty young Americans, who entertained them at the ship's concert.

Mrs. Roosevelt was particularly interested in Miss Gladys. When she found out that Miss Waddell and Miss Shore were under contract to sing and dance in the Rio Janeiro place she made inquiries about it and found that it was a sort of dance hall and as the Colonel expressed it, when he learned about it, "not a proper place for good American girls."

The young women said they knew nothing about the place except what they had been told by the agent of the booking firm with whom they had made the contract. He told them that it was a reputable vaudeville theatre. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Charles Bradley, suggested that the young women should return from Rio on the next ship leaving after the arrival of the Vandeyck. They said they would do so, but unfortunately they did not have money enough to pay their fares back to New York.

Colonel Backs Subscription

Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Bradley, enthusiastically backed by the Colonel, started a subscription right away to their homes here. The money was soon obtained and arrangements made for the transfer of Miss Gladys and her friend to the Vestra.

Capt. Cadogan set his wireless working and learned that the Vestra would be in Rio when the Vandeyck got there. It was feared that an effort might be made to hold the girls under the Brazilian law for violating their contract. The transfer was decided to make the transfer while the two liners were in stream.

The Vandeyck arrived at Rio on October 20. Capt. Cadogan sent a wireless message for a motor launch, which came out from shore and took the baggage of the vaudeville artists to the Vestra. Then they went down the accommodation ladder themselves, cheered by the Roosevelt party and the Vandeyck's officers and stepped into the launch, which flew the Brazilian flag.

As they drew alongside the Vestra another Brazilian launch filled with uniformed Rio policemen took charge of the launch in which the girls were and ordered them to step into the police launch.

They were taken before a Magistrate and there was much talk in Portuguese between him and the manager of the music hall. Finally the Magistrate said the case properly was not in his jurisdiction and ordered the police to take the young women to another court. The music hall manager offered to drive them to the court in his automobile, but they said they preferred to go by trolley.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Rescue

Mrs. Roosevelt had anticipated trouble for her proteges and started things moving to help them. She sent her own and her husband's card to Miss Gladys, who turned it over to the American Minister. It was inscribed with this note, written by Mrs. Roosevelt:

"MY DEAR MR. MINISTER: If you can in any way assist Miss Waddell and Miss Shore I shall be very much obliged."

The Minister deputized the American Consul to look after the young women and he appeared with a lawyer at the second court. The manager of the music hall wanted the girls to renew their contract with him made through the New York agency, but they declined to do so. The second Magistrate dismissed the case and the girls took a trolley to the landing of the Vestra.

The Vandeyck was coming in as the Vestra went out and all the passengers of the former ship, led by the Colonel, gave the girls hearty American cheers. Meanwhile the British Consul had heard of the incident. He had supposed that the girls had been taken from a British ship, which the Vestra is, and the British Minister deputized the American Consul to look after the young women and he appeared with a lawyer at the second court. The manager of the music hall wanted the girls to renew their contract with him made through the New York agency, but they declined to do so. The second Magistrate dismissed the case and the girls took a trolley to the landing of the Vestra.

Miss Waddell said yesterday that she really could not tell what might have happened to her and Miss Shore if they had not been saved from the Rio Janeiro

FEAR RIOTS IN KIEFF AS TRIAL CLOSES

Thousands of "Black Hundred" Organization Fill Streets of City.

EXPECT A VERDICT TO-DAY

Beilis, Guarded by Soldiers With Drawn Swords, Falls in Faint.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

KIEFF, Nov. 8.—The verdict of the jury which has listened to the testimony in the trial of Mendel Beilis, the Jew accused of the "ritual murder" of the Christian boy Andrei Yushchinsky two years ago, is expected to-morrow and excitement in this city is at fever heat. Counsel on both sides finished summing up to-day and the case went to the jury at 9 o'clock this evening.

The streets are filled with thousands of adherents of the "Black Hundred" and the principal thoroughfares are held by soldiers.

The court was jammed all day. Scores of society leaders stood throughout the proceedings and even standing room was difficult to obtain. The president of the court ordered the doors locked and the heat was terrific. Beilis, who was guarded by five soldiers with drawn swords, and several other persons fainted.

Attorney Samislovsky, a prominent member of the "Black Hundred" and counsel for the parents of the murdered boy, in the course of a speech lasting eight hours, appealed to the jury to return a "ritual Russian verdict." When he denounced Beilis as a murderer the prisoner arose and fixing his eyes on those of the lawyer, exclaimed:

"May God strike me dead if I did it!"

Counsel for Beilis, M. Grossenberg, himself a Jew, made an eloquent speech in which he argued that all the clues led to the flat of Vera Tcherberayak.

"If the Jewish religion permitted the use of human blood," he said, "I would not belong to it a moment longer. That is a delirious calumny."

Dr. Korolenko, the eminent Russian author, thinks Beilis will be acquitted, but he admits that passions are so inflamed that it is difficult to predict the result. The majority of persons here who are experienced in court procedure in Russia seem to believe that Beilis is doomed.

Mrs. Beilis said today that if her husband is acquitted they will both go to the United States to join her sister in Philadelphia.

JUDGE WERNER WINS BY 2,241

Complete Returns From Entire State Show the Result.

William E. Werner was elected Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals by a plurality of 2,241, according to complete returns compiled by THE SUN last night. Judge Werner's total vote is 598,975, while Bartlett polled 596,734 votes and Learned Hand, with five counties missing, polled 152,009. These five counties will not increase Judge Hand's total to more than 165,000.

The two counties whose returns last night completed the table are Hamilton and Delaware. Up to the time these counties reported Judge Werner had a plurality of 663 votes. Delaware county gave Werner 5,867, Bartlett 4,163 and Hand 564, a plurality for Judge Werner of 1,704, increasing his lead to 2,241.

Hamilton county's return was Werner, 451; Bartlett, 597. Hand, 176, a plurality for Bartlett of 146 and cuts down Judge Werner's State plurality to 2,241.

These same two counties increase Judge Hand's safe plurality for Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals.

IMPEACHMENT COST $150,000.

Bills for Kaiser's Trial Much in Excess of Appropriation.

ALBANY, Nov. 8.—The $75,000 appropriated for the expenses of the high court of impeachment, the verdict of which court Gov. Sulzer his office, is not sufficient to cover the whole cost.

Bills in excess of the $75,000 appropriation aggregating $48,000 have been filed with the State Comptroller. Of the $125,000 incurred as expenses of the impeachment court the Senators and board of managers drew about $50,000 and the court employees $8,300.

The Thomas J. Fitzsimmons Detective Agency was paid $9,954 and the Empire Detective Agency $2,307.

In addition the stenographers who took the impeachment court proceedings will have a bill for $20,000, which would add to the total expense of the impeachment court at $150,000 outside of fees for the attorneys for both sides.

PEOPLE MY ADVISERS, DECLARES MITCHELL

Efficiency, Not Big Names, He Says Will Rule His Appointments.

PROMISES GOOD TEAM WORK

Tells Merchants Association He Will Keep All Efficient Men.

"I intend to take the people of New York into my confidence," said Mayor-elect John Purroy Mitchell, speaking at the Merchants Association's banquet last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. "I propose to tell them my plans and ask their advice."

This was one of the parts of Mr. Mitchell's speech, an address in which he set forth clearly the policies he means to follow and how he intends to make his appointments, that was applauded by the merchants and their guests. Another expression that caused cheering and hand-clapping was:

"I think that it is more desirable in selecting men for important posts to seek out men who have the qualifications, the energy and the character, rather than merely men with names prominent in the community. My first thought will be for equipment and experience rather than for big names."

There was another demonstration of approval when the Mayor-elect said:

Insists on Team Work.

"In the coming administration there is going to be complete harmony. We are going to have team work. We are going to get together and we are going to keep together, and by that means, I think, we shall be able to solve our problems."

Most of the newly elected heads of the city sat at the guest table with Mr. Mitchell and indicated their approval of his speech. The only absentee was Comptroller Frederickson. The Merchants Association had planned a sort of non-partisan love feast, so that Judge McCall and Mr. Mitchell could shake hands and discuss cooperation in transportation problems. Judge McCall was unable to attend the dinner. The only defeated candidate present was Dr. Thomas Dartington.

The dinner was the first banquet ever held by the association and it set a mark that will be difficult for posterity to reach in coming years. The toastmaster was President William A. Marble. With him and the Mayor-elect at the guest table were George McAneny, the newly elected Borough President of the five boroughs, District Attorney Whitman, Mayor Kline, the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton and Patrick Francis Murphy.

Merchants' Support Promised.

President Marble opened the speech-making by promising the cordial support of the Merchants Association and its 3,500 members to the new administration.

"You have but to command us," he said, "and we believe that when your terms of office have expired you too will say that the Merchants Association has added to the success of your administration."

When President Marble introduced Mr. Mitchell he was splendidly greeted. After explaining that his first successes in public life were due to the cooperation of the Merchants Association, he continued:

"I am quite conscious of what has happened in this election. I fully understand that the result is in no sense whatever a personal triumph, but the vindication of a principle and the triumph of a cause. [Applause.] It means that this community has registered a verdict in favor of the common sense of the kind of government that we in the Board of Estimate have tried to give the city the last three years and a half. [Applause.]

"The problem of the next four years will be to carry forward and develop that kind of government and to apply it to all the departments, all the bureaus, all the subdivisions of the great city. We have here a machine that has been developed very largely by the accident of the times, that has not been organized on any definite plan or any definite programme. We propose to take that great machine and energize it by applying the principles of business and to make it just as efficient as any great private corporation. [Applause.] We will succeed in that if we have the cooperation of the people of New York."

Will Welcome Advice.

"Now I propose as long as I hold public office in this city to take the people into my confidence [applause], to tell them my plans and to ask their advice. I want yours. I know that without the advice and cooperation I shall not succeed and that with it I shall succeed. [Applause.]

"The greatest problem is of course the organization of the departments through the appointments that the Mayor must make. If that problem is successfully solved the administration is launched successfully or with a prospect of success. If it is solved wrongly the administration is likely to be wrecked right at the beginning. I propose to go slowly enough to be sure that I am right before I act.

"I shall make full inquiry into the qualifications of every man that I may consider for appointment to any post, high or low. If there is one thing that I have learned in my brief experience in the government of this city it is that we have in the employ of New York a body of trained and efficient men to-day. I want to take advantage of that experience and ability wherever I find it in the city service, because we will profit by keeping the trained men and the able men that we already have. [Applause.] It will be my ambition to leave office leaving behind me a corps of men that any Mayor would be willing to keep on the staff of his record."

"I shall welcome applications for appointment to the office that I shall be called upon to fill. I shall welcome suggestions and advice."

The Mayor-elect complimented Mr. McAneny for efficient service, promised a business administration and told the merchants that there would be absolute harmony in his administration. When he finished his speech he was again warmly applauded.

DENMARK SEEKS PEACE TREATY

Will Be Broadest U. S. Ever Made, If It Is Approved.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Denmark has requested the United States to negotiate a real peace treaty.

Secretary Bryan in announcing this fact to-day said it would be the broadest agreement ever entered into by the United States if it is finally approved. It provides for the arbitration of all disputes, no matter of what character, between the two nations.

HOTELS CAN'T SERVE RAW MILK

New Board of Health Rule Forces Use of Pasteurized Grade A.

Health Commissioner Lockwood announced yesterday that the Board of Health had adopted two regulations limiting the sale of raw milk. The first amends the Sanitary Code and removes from Grade B the class of milk that could formerly be sold under that designation. The second provision forbids the sale of any raw milk for consumption on the premises where it is sold. This affects especially restaurants, hotels and luncheon rooms. Hereafter the milk sold there will have to be of the pasteurized Grade A.

With these ordinances the Health Department brings to a successful conclusion a four year fight to have the milk supply of the city pasteurized. The only exception will be the highest quality of milk.

LEVY WANTS TO SUCCEED ROOT.

Representative in Sulzer's Old District Applies to Senate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Representative Jefferson M. Levy of New York announced to-day that he would be a candidate next year for the place in the United States Senate now filled by Elihu Root. Mr. Levy said that in due season he would make a more formal announcement, accompanied by a statement in which he would discuss public questions at length.

The New York member, who represents the district that sent William Sulzer to Congress for so many years, believes that his service to the party warrants his promotion to the Senate. Mr. Levy also is among his accomplishments the Administration banking and currency bill.

"At least 75 per cent of the ideas in that measure were taken from a bill that I had previously introduced," said Mr. Levy.

FREE TRIP FOR 500TH BRIDE.

United Fruit Company Surprises Lucky Honeymooners.

The 500th honeymoon couple that has sailed from this port by United Fruit liners since the ships have been in service departed yesterday by the steamship Tivives. The passenger agent surprised them by making a note of their nuptial newness, even though they had addressed each other with joy formality, and informing them that they could have a $500 money back when they returned to New York.

They wanted to know why and were told that they had inadvertently achieved the distinction of being the 500th of their happy class to sail for southern seas by the line. They registered as Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cowper of Toronto.

HOUSE GIFT TO BE JEWELRY.

Committee Now Favors Something for Personal Adornment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—It is expected that the gift of the House of Representatives to Miss Jessie Wilson, the White House bride, will be jewelry in some form. The committee favors a gift of personal adornment, something distinctly feminine in its utilitarian sense. The selection of the gift lies with Representative Page, Fowler, Chandler and Mann, who will be advised in the matter by Miss Genevieve Clark.

The members who are to decide the question are naturally averse to talking about the gift or the selection of the gift. They are acting, which is coming from all parts of the compass. Senators are dropping in on the committee members daily, and photographs of every conceivable kind of wedding gift are as common about the capital as anti-trust speeches in mailing form.

DIED ON FOOTBALL TRAIN.

Brooklyn Bank Clerk Was Returning From Princeton Game.

Frank R. Torrey, a bank clerk of 193 Second place, Brooklyn, who attended the Harvard-Princeton football game yesterday afternoon, died on one of the special trains from Princeton just before it arrived at the Pennsylvania station at thirty-fourth street about 6 o'clock last evening.

Attendance at the station was summoned and pronounced him dead.

Passengers on the train said that Mr. Torrey was ill all the way from Princeton and died in the Pennsylvania tunnel. They gave him water and tried in vain to revive him. His body was taken in charge by his family.

Mr. Torrey was said to have died of apoplexy.

He was 55 years old and for twenty-three years was connected with the Union Trust Company, at 80 Broadway. He was a member of the class of '81, Columbia University. Mr. Torrey was active in the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn as one of the club's oldest members. Last season he managed the Crescent A. C. baseball team and also took an interest in other sports.

BOYS LOSE LEGS AFTER GAME.

One Football Player, Victim of Tragic Wreck, Will Die.

WAYNE, Mich., Nov. 8.—Hennet French of Ypsilanti had both legs cut off and probably will die and Henry Schwesinger lost one leg in a collision on the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago Interurban line near here to-day.

The boys were members of the Western High School football team, which was returning from the annual game at Ypsilanti. They were on the rear platform of a car when the trolley pole flew off and a car following crashed into the one ahead.

Several other passengers were injured.

His Election Cost Him Two Cents.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Perhaps the smallest election account ever filed with the Board of Election was turned in to-day. Otto K. Dorn, successful candidate for the school board, swore it cost him just two cents to be elected. That was spent for a postage stamp.

I WON'T RESIGN, SAYS HUERTA

Makes Announcement to Politicians at the Palace.

SPLIT IN CABINET

Blanquet and Moheno Said to Be Ready to Quit.

BANKS ARE BESIEGED

Money Famine Results From the New Financing Decree.

WILSON RELIES ON POWERS

He Expects Them to Exert Pressure on the Dictator.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.—President Huerta said to-day that he has not the slightest intention of resigning in accordance with the demand of the United States.

Talking to a group of prominent politicians who called upon him in the National Palace, Gen. Huerta said:

"I am not considering the question of resigning. In fact there is nobody to whom I could offer my resignation, as Congress has been dissolved."

One of the politicians asked him what he would do when the new Congress is in session. Gen. Huerta refused to commit himself, smilingly answering:

"That will be another story."

It is known that several of the Ministers of Huerta's Cabinet are trying to induce him to resign as the only way to avoid war with the United States.

It is said that Gen. Blanquet has already offered his resignation, but that it has not been accepted. The Minister of War was seen at the office of a steamship company to-day asking for the price of passage to Italy and the date of the sailing of the next steamship of the company.

He has made purchases of trunks and other things which are taken to indicate his intention to leave the country immediately.

Reports of Disension.

After a conference of several of the Cabinet Ministers with President Huerta this morning it was persistently rumored that Huerta's attitude toward the United States has caused a split among his advisers which cannot be bridged and that the resignation of at least two of the Ministers was expected without delay.

Foreign Minister Moheno is considered likely to quit the Cabinet perhaps to-morrow.

Mexicans generally recognize now that the international situation has reached a climax and are ready for anything.

In Government circles nothing is spoken of except the demand of the United States for the elimination of Huerta and his friends from the Government of the republic.

President Huerta called an extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet at 5 o'clock this afternoon. All the Ministers went to the national palace and were still in session at 11 o'clock to-night.

The Cabinet Ministers say Gen. Huerta has not taken them fully into his confidence and they are in the dark as to what he really intends to do.

It is felt in the American colony here that John Lind's return to Mexico city will make the success of Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy's verbal communications to Gen. Huerta impossible, as the Mexicans look upon Mr. Lind's presence at this stage as menacing and do not believe that Gen. Huerta will yield an inch.

It is generally accepted that if Mr.

Lind goes away again from the capital all hope of a peaceful settlement of the difficulty will have vanished.

A Money Famine.

Mexico is suffering now from a money famine due to the Government decree stopping the redemption in specie of national bank notes. Crowds besieged the banks in the capital all day to-day demanding cash for notes.

Some of the banks consented to redeem a small amount of bills, but the demand was in most cases refused and police reserves had to be called to give protection to the banks. Government employees are being paid in cash.

Official despatches from Chihuahua report a big rebel defeat. Federal cavalry is reported to be pursuing the fleeing rebels and constantly harassing them, preventing the scattered army from reorganizing. The final rout of the insurgents in that district is expected shortly.

It is unofficially reported that Ciudad Victoria, in the State of Tamaulipas, is besieged by the Carrancistas.

Gen. Tracy Aubert, one of the pris-
